

Caring for canals and rivers across the North West

We're the charity working to protect and bring to life this 250-year-old network of canals and rivers spanning England and Wales. Not so long ago many canals were abandoned, and some lost forever. Today, with your support, wildlife is recovering, history is alive, boats are plentiful and spending time in this environment is contributing to our health and happiness.

Our mission is to keep this extraordinary network of canals and rivers alive, teeming with wildlife, transforming places they run through and enriching all of our lives. Your support today could help us care for the Liverpool Albert Dock and many more places, for today and generations to come.

Making life better by water

Keeping history alive

Opening in 1846, Albert Dock transformed the way docks worked. Its warehouses were fireproof and secure, and hydraulic cranes hauled heavy cargoes helping to cut the time it took to unload and turn ships around in half.

By the 1970s, the dock was silted and unused. In 1981, the Merseyside Development Corporation was established to regenerate the city's waterfront and docks. Following a £22 million facelift, Liverpool Canal Link opened to boats in 2009, extending the canal from Stanley Dock Lock Flight to the South Docks via Albert Dock.
